REMARKS.

This catalogue embraces the first portion of the collection of engraved portraits of Gen. George Washington gathered by the Hon. Jas. T. Mitchell, Chief Justice of Pennsylvania, and includes only the portraits described by, or such as would have been described by, the late Mr. Wm. S. Baker in his work on the Engraved Portraits of Washington. When I say would have been, I mean that many in this collection are so rare that Mr. Baker had not the good fortune, in his researches, to come across them, otherwise they would have been included in his book.

After mature consideration, I decided to fall back and build on the old foundation, that is, to describe the portraits by the excellent rule laid down by Mr. Baker in his admirable work, which is best understood by collectors, being aware that those who are possessed of the exclusive Grolier Club book can readily identify the portraits mentioned in that book by the Baker numbers herein given. It will be well to state, whilst mentioning the Grolier Club book, that that publication owes much of its excellence and completeness to the courtesy of Justice Mitchell in allowing Mr. Hart the use of his collection in compiling the same, as many of the rarer items mentioned in it are the only impressions known, and are in this collection. In describing the portraits, we have tried to follow the various forms of letters used in the titles of the prints, which will explain the lack of uniformity in lettering of the titles in this catalogue.

I think it will be conceded that there is not such another collection as this in existence. Herein are described no less than eleven hundred and fifty separate portraits, and allowing two hundred for duplicates (as to state only), it will be perceived that it outnumbers Baker two to one, or, in other words, contains as many not in, as are in Baker, the great majority of them being of the most extreme rarity.

The rule for collecting in any line is generosity, which was religiously observed by Chief Justice Mitchell; he cared not how much the sellers profit, so long as the price was within reason, consequently in many instances the Chief Justice had the first choice given him by the owners, which invariably ended in a purchase, and this is the reason this collection is so peculiarly rich in the rarer portraits.

I shall call attention to only a few items in the sale. First, a portrait of Washington published in a Belfast magazine called "The Microscope," which came from General Washington's library, and is unique. The portrait on the title-page of a piece of music called "The Battle of Trenton," and which also belonged to General Washington, and is unique. The portrait of

WOR 19 FEB '36

Washington in Armor, which we believe to be the only one known. There is also in the collection quite a number of other portraits which enjoy the same distinction. A beautiful portrait, cabinet size, painted in oil by the celebrated enamel painter Wm. Birch, of which a fairly creditable facsimile is seen on the cover of the catalogue, and the model of the Sharpless portrait, made in wax by Titian Peale, the son of Chas. Willson Peale; this is really an extraordinary work of art, beautifully executed. It would be folly for one to attempt to describe in these remarks, those of the engraved portraits worthy of mention,—they are too numerous.

The second portion of this collection, a catalogue of which is in preparation, will embrace an extraordinary number of colored and plain lithographs, many of great rarity and artistic merit. We say artistic merit, for it is not until such a collection as this comes under one's observation that we are taught to what a degree of excellence this art has been carried. There is also an unique collection of the various issues of the paper money bearing the portrait of Washington, many of them the work of our early American engravers, including the celebrated Doolittle; with these we might include proofs of the various issues of the revenue and postage stamps, also proofs of the various banknote vignettes, and, last but not least, quite a number of contemporary portraits of Washington engraved on wood, including the one which a distinguished authority attributes to Paul Revere.

It has been my good fortune to have pass through my hands much (more than that of any living man) material which belonged to, or related to General Washington. A knowledge gained from this source is the reason why these great collections are placed in my hands for disposal; probably greater things are expected of me. Feeling the responsibility, I have placed before my patrons this catalogue, hoping that my efforts will be appreciated, and with a consciousness that I have done my best.

STAN. V. HENKELS.

But this, we think, is an error, and if the engraving is a close rendering of its original, incline to the opinion that the lettering is incorrect, and that it is really after one of Charles Willson Peale's later portraits."

Both prints are slightly trimmed on sides and top, which accounts for the difference in measurement. The portrait of Martha Washington is somewhat water-stained.

This pair of prints are of the greatest rarity, and "are the first portraits of Genl. Washington and Mrs. Washington executed by a professional engraver in America. The mezzotinto by Peale, advertised for sale in 1780, although the first in point of time, must be considered in a different light, as Peale was not a professional engraver, the plates he produced being often his own designs." This I consider to be the gem of this great collection; it is doubly interesting from the fact that the identical piece of music, with engraved title, is bound up in a volume of piano music, and at one time belonged to Genl. Washington, who presented it to his adopted daughter, Eleanor Parke Custis, "Nelly Custis." I discovered this relic in the early fall of 1890, whilst on a visit to Col. H. L. D. Lewis, at Audley, Clarke Co., Virginia, who was residing in his ancestral home, built by Genl. Washington and presented to "Nelly Custis" at the time of her marriage to Lawrence Lewis, Washington's favorite nephew, and son of his sister "Betty," who had married Fielding Lewis. In December of the same year (1890) I sold numerous relics of Genl. Washington for Colonel Lewis, and this was purchased by Chief Justice Mitchell at that sale. A description can be seen of it by referring to that catalogue, Lot 178. The index to the music on the fly-leaf is in the handwriting of Lawrence Lewis, the husband of Nelly Custis, and who was, with Bushrod Washington, one of the executors of the General's estate.

See reduced facsimile. The portrait is a copy of the Wright etching.

Printed & Sold by A. Doolittle New Haven where Engraving & Roling Press Printing is performed.

Excessively rare. The only copy I ever saw, and probably unique. Another portrait of Washington (probably the one he engraved looking to the right) has been erased by the engraver from this plate, and the present portrait inserted. This impression has been partially colored, and somewhat damaged.

180 00 147. GEORGE WASHINGTON. President of the UNITED STATES, &c., fully described in the preceding print, but with an entirely re-engraved portrait of Washington (full bust in uniform, head in profile to left) and with the following variations: on the border of the circle containing the arms of Massachusetts the number of inhabitants changed to "873.200"; on an inserted inner border in the circle containing the arms of North Carolina, "Tennessee, 2 Senat. 2 Repr., 6,700 Inhabitants"; the arms of Vermont are added, under the statistics of the State in the lower right, and in the general title the date changed to "March 1st 1796."

A variation of the preceding plate. Partially colored, and stained. Of these portraits by Doolittle, there are only seven in existence, no two bearing the same portrait, and with variations in other parts of the plate; consequently these two are unique so far as we know, and are identically the ones from which Hart took his description.

WALTER ROBERTSON TYPE NOT IN BAKER.

300 00 333. General Washington. Died 14th December 1799. Aged 68 years. Full bust in uniform with black neckerchief, head three-quarters to right. Oval in a narrow scroll border; over the oval a sword and field-glass in diverging rays, over which is the inscription "For the Microscope"; on either side flags, and beneath a liberty cap on a spear and bunch of arrows, over which flows a ribbon upon which is inscribed "E Pluribus Unum." Line and stipple.

Height 5 5-16 inches; width 4 2-16 inches.

This unique portrait may well be considered one of the gems of the collection. The engraving is a very clever piece of workmanship, and it is a pity the artist did not attach his name to it. It was discovered by me in a short and incomplete file of a magazine entitled "The Microscope or Minute Observer," for the years 1799-1800, among a collection of relics and papers inherited by Lawrence Washington, through his father, John Augustine Washington, from Genl. Washington's estate. I had sold for Lawrence Washington, some time past (1876), the books he had inherited from Genl. Washington, and at a sale in April, 1891, disposed of the balance of his relics, this being among them. The magazine begins with Vol. I, No. IV, August, 1797, and ends with No. VIII, and includes the index (3 pages) to the eight numbers. Vol. II begins with No. I, January, 1800, and ends with No. IV, April, 1800. Some leaves at the end of this volume, containing the continuation of Franklin's autobiography, are missing. No. II of this volume contains a "Striking Likeness of the late GENERAL GEORGE WASHINGTON, with the dress and armorial appendage, as President, when he delivered his farewell oration in Congress to the United States of America." Of course, this number was published after the great man's death, but as he was an original subscriber to the magazine, the publishers continued sending it to the family. It is therefore doubly interesting from the fact that the early part actually belonged to Washington, and the latter part, whilst not personally his, had been subscribed for by him. With the number containing the portrait is a beautifully written biographical sketch.

Up to the present time it has held its own as unique, no other copy having turned up. This fact is astonishing, as all the libraries of Europe have been searched time and again for it. It was published at Belfast, by Joseph Smyth, at the Public Printing Office, High street.

601. BUST, head to left. Oval. Mezzotinto.

Height 3 2-16 inches; width 2 8-16 inches.

105.00 (Engraved by John Roberts) Baker No. 314. Extremely rare. See Facsimile. [Baker calls this "Stipple" through error.]

There were only a few impressions taken from this plate, after which the Engraver, Mr. Jno. Roberts, of New York, defaced the plate by rubbing it down. This identical copy belonged to James Madison, President of the United States, and was pasted in the Front of a Volume of Washington's letters to Madison, which Madison had placed in a folio with his own hands, and as this Volume was made up early in the last century, it is no doubt that the Engraver, Mr. Roberts, had presented this copy to Mr. Madison. It is much richer in tone than the more recent impressions and bears the impress of being one of the earliest struck from the plate. It was purchased by Chief Justice Mitchell at the Sale of the Madison Papers made by me in 1892. It is accompanied with an A. L. S. of Wm. S. Baker, confirming the statement, as to the impression.

3.50 602. THE SAME. One of the Very few later impressions which shows sufficient evidence that Mr. Hart is right in his assertion that the plate had been defaced by rubbing.

LOOK ON THIS PICTURE, AND ON THIS.

—See what a grace was seated on this brow—
—An eye like Mars to threaten and command,—
—A combination, and a form, indeed,
Where every God did seem to set his seal,
To give the world assurance of a man—

THIS WAS——

HERE IS——

——— like a mildew'd ear,
Blasting his wholesome brother ———

Vide Hamlet.

New-York, June, 1807.

The work on these two lithographs is so close to the original engraved by Wm. Woodruff, Baker No. 353, and exhibits such beautiful specimens of that art, that we have not considered it amiss to place them with the copper and steel engravings.

67.50 665. BUST, head to left. Oval, with border resting upon a base, on a folio sheet, surrounded by allegorical figures of History, Liberty, Immortality, Justice, and America; in the lower margin an urn and over it an eagle with a laurel wreath. Mezzotinto.

$200.00 668. GEORGE WASHINGTON. Full length, the "Lansdowne Portrait," fully described in the print by "James Heath," Baker No. 250. Mezzotinto.

Height 26 10–16 inches; width 20 6–16 inches.

This print, although differing somewhat in the measurements from that described by Baker, is no doubt an impression from the same plate, and although no Engraver's name appears on it, it is, however, the work of Edward Savage, as another impression of the plate appears in this catalogue under No. 696 which bears the Engraver's name. Mr. Baker never saw an impression with the Artist's name, and as the workmanship is not up to the standard of Savage's, he was led to say: "It appears to be the work of an English artist of no particular merit." It was engraved about 1800. Extremely rare. Baker No. 358. Not in Carson.

40.00 669. WASHINGTON. Full length. The "Lansdowne Portrait." Stipple.

Height 8 1–16 inches; width 5 12–16 inches.

Baker No. 359. Excessively rare.

Mr. Baker saw only one copy of this rare print. The drawing is very crude, making Washington a man of short stature with a large head. The Engraving is about of the same character as the drawing.

200.00 670. BUST, head to right. Oval, resting upon books labelled "Order, Law, Religion"; to the left, a lion, with fore-feet on a scroll entitled "Answer to Addresses"; on the right, an eagle, head and neck only visible, upon another scroll marked "Last Legacy"; at the top of the oval, a laurel wreath with diverging rays; to the right, in same plate (oblong quarto), an oval of like size, upon some books, containing the portrait of Jefferson facing to the left; the books are labelled "Sophism, Tom Paine, Voltaire," etc., with a rattlesnake and crocodile in place of the lion and eagle, and over the oval a candlestick with a smoking candle in place of the laurel wreath; in the lower margin, the quotation from Shakespeare, "Look on this Picture, and on this," etc.. etc. Etched.

Height 5 inches; width 4 inches.

New York 1807. Extremely rare. Baker No. 360. Not in Carson. See reduced facsimile.

A political print and very well executed; no doubt by a foreign artist, as we know no American engraver of the time equal to handling the point with such freedom. Only one complete impression has been under our notice, the portrait of Washington in all other cases being found cut apart from the Jefferson.—Baker.

15.00 671. G. WASHINGTON. Born Feb. 11th (O.S.) 1732. Died Decr 14th 1799. Line.

Height 2 10–16 inches; width 2 inches.

Deare's Edition. Dedicated to the Washington Benevolent Societies in New Jersey. Publish'd & Sold by Lewis Deare N Brunswick N Jersey. Baker No. 363. Rare.

20.00 673. THE SAME. Cut oval and attached to a double folio sheet of music entitled "The Favorite New Federal Song, adapted to the President's March. Written by Joseph Hopkinson, Esq., and Sung by Mr. Fox." Set to music. Beneath the portrait is the inscription, "Behold the Chief who now Commands."

This is the earliest known issue of "Hail Columbia" with muscial notes. Mr. Gilbert Fox, who enjoyed the distinction of being the first to sing it, was a schoolmate of the author and was to receive a benefit at the theatre in Philadelphia (1798); very few boxes having been sold, he appealed to Hopkinson to write him a patriotic song, adapted to the tune of the "President's March" (then the popular air), feeling that this would bring him a full house. The author promised to try and help his friend, and the result was "Hail Columbia." The theatre was crowded to excess and so continued night after night for the rest of the season, the song being encored and repeated many times each night, the audience joining in the chorus. This is the only copy we have ever seen with the portrait, and diligent research leads us to think that it is unique in this particular.

Height 18 8–16 inches; width 13 12–16 inches.

(Engraved from an Original Drawing by Savage. Publish'd by I. Le Petit, Latimer House, Hammersmith near London.) Baker No. 375. Excessively rare.

Only one impression had come under the notice of Baker, and that without the publisher's address, which had probably been cut off, as well as portions of the margin; which would account for this copy not quite agreeing in size. It has the Stuart head, and the general characteristics of the figure and accessories resemble the "Tea Pot Portrait." Unfortunately this lacks the title and margin, but it is a very fine impression and has been colored contemporaneously.

12.00 689. G. Washington. Half length, head to left. Upper corners rounded. Line.

Height 5 4-16 inches; width 3 14-16 inches.

Baker No. 378. Very rare. Fine copy with wide margin.

Baker's own list has 378 unchecked and its place in his collection in the Historical Society of Pennsylvania vacant, while this print is No. 528 in his Ms. supplement. Measured from outer line, 3 8-16 inches × 2 10-16 inches, and described as from "George Washington, Chemnitz in der Jacobaerschen Buchhandlung 1804." Hart says it may be Baker No. 378.

Excessively rare, if not unique in this state. The only impression in Proof I ever saw.

425.00 695. THE SAME. Printed in colors, with the address of publisher, but title and authority cut off. Beautiful rich impression.

The above four prints form one of the remarkable features of this collection. I venture to say that they cannot be equalled by any other. The print is so scarce that it is only within the last few years that it has been known to collectors; and Justice Mitchell being one of the most liberal collectors in this country, he most naturally had the first choice, whenever any unknown portrait was discovered, an opportunity which he invariably availed himself of to enrich his collection, and which will account for so many states of this rare and beautiful print being in his collection.

This is no doubt Baker No. 358, although not exactly agreeing with the measurements, which may be accounted for by the print which Baker saw being cut down, as he does not give any notice of the engraver. Height 9 4–16 inches; width 7 4–16 inches.

Extremely rare. Baker only saw one impression, and we doubt whether there is another in existence. "Shortly after the proclamation of peace, Congress passed a resolution that an equestrian statue of Washington should be erected, that it should be of bronze, and the General to be represented in a Roman dress, holding a truncheon in his right hand, and his head encircled with a laurel wreath. This print, which is said to be a copy of one in Guillim's Heraldry, 5th Edition, London 1679, the head of Washington being inserted, was no doubt published at the time, in burlesque of the resolution."—Baker. The engraving from which this is a copy is the portrait of Sir William de la More, which appears in Guillim's Heraldry as stated by Baker; a copy of this portrait accompanies that of Washington.

manner. Inclosed by a narrow border, in which at the top is a roll crossed by a pen, inscribed "Revolution"; no background. Line.

Published by H. D. Symonds, June 18, 1796. From Baxter's History of England, London 1796. Baker No. 427. Very rare.

Baker's supposition (p. 103) that this may have been intended as a caricature is unfounded. The Author is not unfriendly to Washington, or to the Colonists or their cause, rather disposed to be friendly, and this portrait is in the same style as others illustrating the book, including Lord W. Russell, Algernon Sydney, Alderman Beckford, "The patriotic Lord Mayor of London," Franklin, and Paine.

Pub^d May 12th 1796, by H. Humphrey, New Bond Street. Engrav'd by T. A^s

Of extreme rarity, the print is entitled "A Portrait," and is a caricature, and the only caricature I ever saw of General Washington, and probably the only one in existence. Even in this instance the artist must have felt the gravity of the subject he was drawing, as he had the delicacy not to mention any name. Although the proportions of the man and horse are ridiculous, still the workmanship shows the impress of a master-hand with the point. In the dress and features the portrait of Washington is easily discernible, as intended by the artist.
